J. H. SHIREMAN'S REAPERS & MOWERS.

HAVING been agent for this machine last season, I also offer it to the farmer this season. It is well known, having taken the premium at the Bendersville Fair, also at the Gettysburg Mowing Match over seven others, which were considered splendid machines, and likewise at the Dillsburg Mowing Match. Having concluded not to offer any machine that will not give entire satisfaction, I have refused agencies of several other machines, and now offer this one as

THE GREAT MACHINE OF THE SEASON.

Having tried one myself, I know exactly what it will do. I could refer you to scores of farmers who have purchased machines of me, who are highly pleased and say this is the only machine they would use.
Extras always on hand, and repairing done here at my place. This is a great consideration—the machine can be repaired at home immediately, and with much less cost.
Another great saving is the BINDER which is attached to this celebrated Reaper and Mower. It has been thoroughly tried, and given entire satisfaction—requiring no harvest hand except a driver. This Binder can also be attached to the Reapers which have been sold; but cannot be attached to any other machine except Shireman's.
I will here refer you to a few farmers, in different localities, who have bought and used these machines:

Michael Fiscel,	Stephen Gettier,
Moses Hartman,	Mr. Sterner,
Joseph Wierman,	Mr. Linn,
Ulrich Jacobs,	J. B. Hershey
Jacob Hartman,	B. B. Woodburn.
Jacob Laman,

with others, too numerous to mention.
This machine has a self-rake, side delivery, and is warranted to do its work as above recommended.
Also on hand, SHIREMAN'S SELF-DISCHARGING HORSE RAKE, a first-rate article, which we will sell at the lowest possible price. Warranted to give satisfaction. Also the COLUMBIA RAKE always on hand.
Machines can be seen at my house, three miles south of Gettysburg, or at Mr. Conrad Snyder's Battlefield Hotel.

"IF I FALTER—WHISPER, MOTHER!"

A POEM

READ AT THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE PHILOMATHÆAN SOCIETY OF PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGE, FEB. 22, 1869,

BY EDWARD T HORN.

[PUBLISHED BY REQUEST.]

I.

Lying on the field of battle,
Was a youth—
One of tens of hundreds—dying
For the truth.
From the distance, fainter ever
Came a shout,
Telling all the frantic terror
Of the rout;
And from those bleeding woes arise
Loud groans—to War a sacrifice.

II.

Spirits evil, with dread laughter,
Throng the place,
And the "King of Terrors" beckons
To his face;
But a holy angel catches
His last breath,
And the youthful form relaxes
Still in death.
To murmur "Mother," the chill lips try,
And the soul, unfettered, 'wakes on high.

III.

Shielded in that dreadful hour, from
Evil dart,
Only by the trusting of a
Mother's heart,
That young soul to 'during mansions
Angels bear—
Wafted on their journey by that
Mother's prayer—
And place it, reft 'mid War's alarms,
In Jesus' loving, healing arms.

IV.

On that morning, ere the flushes
Of the day
Chased night's subtle, silvery magic
Far away;
When the queenly moon was paling
In the west,
And the dawn was gently sleeping
On the breast
Of heavenly mountains—strangely built
Of rainbow hues and elfin gilt;

V.

When by frightened hearts was heard the Reveille,
And each soldier made him ready
For the fray—
Then that brave young soul had faltered
For a time;
For he dreamt he heard the distant
Death-bell's chime,
And early breezes, stealing by,
From drooping branches swept a sigh!

VI.

Where the shallow Lehigh dashes,
Light and gay,
O'er the rocks with silver splashes,
As in play,
Where the wizard held by humans
In their chains,—
Steam—for hated masters delving,
Shrieks his pains;
And God his smile of plenty yields
To earnest strength and rustling fields:

VII.

Memory led his trembling foot-steps
To a cot
Deep embow'red 'mid leaves and fragrance
Fading not,
And within he saw that dear one—
Loved the best—
Touched by sorrow, trustful-looking,
Now at rest,
With gathered hair of white and gold—
A simple story, sweetly told.

VIII.

Thoughts of Mother! Can we wonder
At his tears?
Can we wonder at the temple
Fancy rears?
Mother! Name of all most sacred
Evermore
On this love-blest earth that ever
Mortal bore!
A trust-germ, planted 'neath the sod,
Then bursting forth in faith towards God!

IX.

Frighting dreams and bringing terror,
Sound the drums;
Down the hill the foe, defiant,
Onward comes;
And the cannon's booming bellows
Deep and dread,
While the whistling rifle-bullets
Shriek o'erhead—
With tears of blood the war-cursed earth
Bewails the mystery of its birth!

X.

"Charge, and boldly break their columns!"
Was the cry—
Bravely marched that iron phalanx
On, to die!
Hurried thoughts of home—of country—
Madly strove
In his bosom, rent by duty
Battling love—
That ancient conflict, never done
Till worlds shall mourn earth's vanished sun!

XI.

Turning to a fellow-soldier,
Old and strong,
Such as those to whom, by nature,
Wars belong,
Low he whispered—"If I falter,
Act my fear,
Comrade, only whisper 'Mother'
In my ear!"
That holy talismanic word,
Save Jesus, sweetest ear hath heard.

XII.

When the worshipped Fury—Battle—
Clothed with fire,
Seized the hills, and at her shrine
A priesthood dire—
Laughing fiends and fiendish humans—
Victims gave,
Of Earth's noblest and Earth's meanest,
To the grave,
With sudden fear that young eye quailed,
And his bright cheek an instant paled.

XIII.

There are moments when the bravest
Holds his breath,
While he hears the rustling robes of
Coming Death,
There are moments when the stoutest
Hearts are thrilled,
When they know life's eager throbbing
Sudden stilled:
Ah! who may tell the thoughts that reign
When souls first drop their earthly chains?

XIV.

"If I falter, whisper Mother,"
He had said,
"And if then my manhood comes not,
Shoot me dead."
When the charging ranks had neared that
Wall of fire,
Seeing hundreds clothed with final
Wounds expire,
His heart had sounded the recall—
But from beyond, that name most sweet,

XV.

Rising, like are angel's trumpet
Loud and clear,
From that true and fallen comrade,
Slew his fear;
Hearing voices, not of battle,
On he trod.
They who trust, and work, and die thus,
Rest in God;
And, though its morn had just begun,
The struggle of his life was done!

XVI.

On that field of horrid slaughter,
Pierced and torn,
Lay the earth robe, pure and lovely,
He had worn,
And his spirit through "the shadow,"
Azrael,
(Help of God), a mighty angel,
Guided well
To where, on waking ear, there fell
Of death's dark stream the muffled swell.

XVII.

Helped by powerful arms unseen, he
Reached the land
Where the crystal walls of jasper
Glitt'ring stand.
Throwing from his eager pinions,
To the stream,
Clinging earth-thoughts—fading memories
Of a dream—
He sped his chainless way along
Those aisles of never ending song.

XVIII.

Pearly gates as softly turning
As the spheres;
Odors rich in censers burning;
On his ears
Voices, "Holy! Holy!" calling;
On the sea,
Pure, transparent, crowns are falling;—
"Victory!"
Raptured seraph-hosts begin—
The praising soul hath passed within.

XIX.

In the warring that must come, in
After life,
If unmanly, I should dread the
Noble strife,
"If I falter, whisper Mother!"
That I may,
Clad in love's enduring armor,
Seek the fray,
Be this the legend on my shield,
To which each thing impure must yield.

XX.

Thou hast poured thy gentle spirit
Into mine;
Thou didst teach my infant foot-steps
Path's divine;
May my earnest living for thee
Garlands twine—
Never fading leaves and flowers from
Merit's shrine—
And there, where souls shall never tire,
Blaze in thy crown—a gem of fire!

NOT AT HOME.

An elderly man, shabbily attired, was seen walking through one of the fashionable streets in a large city one cold December day. His coat was of coarse grey, and had evidently seen hard service, though still perfectly whole and neat. The traveler walked slowly along, as I have said, examining carefully as he passed the names on the door-plates. He finally paused before a dwelling of showy exterior, which, if we may credit the testimony of the plate upon the door, was occupied by Alexander Beaumont.

"Alexander Beaumont! yes, that's the house," murmured the traveler to himself as he ascended the steps and rang the door-bell.

His summons was answered by a servant who, after a moment's scrutiny, which apparently was not of a very favorable character, said roughly,—

"Well, sir, what do you want?"

"Is Mr. Beaumont at home?" asked the old man, without heeding the intentional rudeness.

"No, sir, he is not."

"Then perhaps I can see his wife?"

"I think it very doubtful, but I will go and see."

The servant withdrew without asking the old man to enter, though the day was very cold, and his clothing seemed to be hardly sufficient to protect him from its inclemency.

Mrs. Beaumont was reclining on a fauteuil in a room handsomely furnished. The last new magazine was in her hand, and her eyes were listlessly glancing over its pages. She was interrupted in her reading by the entrance of the servant.

"Well, what now, Betty?" she inquired.

"There is a man down stairs wants to see you, ma'am."

"Man! a gentleman you mean?"

"No, ma'am," said Betty, stoutly, for she well understood what made up gentlemen in the conventional sense of the term; "it isn't a gentleman at all, for he's got an old grey coat and he has not got any gloves on."

"What can he want of me?"

"I don't know; he inquired after Mr. Beaumont first."

"You didn't bring him in the parlor, did you?"

The girl shook her head.

"You did right, and you'd better tell him I'm not at home."

"Mrs. Beaumont is not at home," said Betty, re-appearing at the door.

"I suppose that means she is engaged," said the old man; "I think she will see me when she learns who I am. Tell her I am her husband's uncle, and my name is Henry Beaumont."

"That old rag-tag master's uncle," said Betty, wondering as she re-ascended the stairs.

"Good heavens!" said her mistress, "it ain't that veteran who strolled off years ago nobody knows where. I did hope he never would come back again. And now I suppose he is as poor as a rat and wants help. Well, he won't get it if I can help it; but I suppose I must see him."

The lady descended, fully prepared to give the visitor a frigid reception.

"I'm not mistaken," said the old man with feeling. "It's Alexander's wife."

"You are right, sir. I am the wife of Mr. Alexander Beaumont, and I suppose from your language you are—"

"His uncle Henry. Ah me! I have been gone so many years, and it does me good to return to my kindred."

The old man leaned on his staff, and his features worked convulsively as thoughts of the past came over his mind. Mrs. Beaumont stood holding the door as if waiting for him to depart. She did not give him any invitation to enter.

"Is your husband well?" inquired the visitor, looking as if he expected an invitation to enter and refresh himself after his walk by an interval of rest.

"He is. If you have any message for him you may leave it with me, and I will deliver it," said Mrs. Beaumont, desirous of ridding herself of the intruder as speedily as possible.

"You may tell him I have called," said the visitor in a disappointed tone, "and that I would like to have seen him."

"I will tell him;" and Mrs. Beaumont was about to close the door.

"Hold! there is one question more.—What has become of Alexander's sister Anna?"

"I don't know much about her," was the rather disdainful reply; "but I think she married a clerk, mechanic, or some such person. His name is Lowe, and lives in Norton street. Is that all?"

"That is all."

The old man turned his steps towards the street indicated, with many forbodings lest his second visit might be as unwelcome as his first appeared to be.

"Betty," said Mrs. Beaumont, as she closed the door, "If that old fool comes again, be sure and not to forget to tell him I am not at home."

Norton street was not a fashionable street, nor was the two story dwelling occupied by William Lowe handsome or costly. It was marked, however, by an air of neatness which indicated that its tenants were not regardless of outward appearances.

We will take the liberty of introducing you into a little sitting room, where Mrs. Lowe and her three little children were even now seated. A plain, serviceable carpet covered the floor, and the remainder of the furniture, though of a kind which would hardly be selected for a drawing room, had a comfortable, homelike appearance, which simply satisfied the desire of those who derived their happiness from a higher and less mutable force than outside show. Mrs. Lowe was seated in a rocking chair, engaged in an employment which I am aware is tabooed in all fashionable society. I mean darning stockings.

Emma, a girl of ten, was brushing up the hearth, which the ashes from the grate, in which a blazing fire was now burning, had somewhat disordered, while Mary who was two years younger, was reading. Charley, a litule rogue of five, with a smiling face which could not help looking roguish, was stroking the cat the wrong way, much to the disturbance of poor Tabby, who had quietly settled herself down to the pleasant dreams upon the hearth rug.

All at once a loud knock was heard at the door.

"Emma," said the mother, "you may go to the door and see who it is, and invite them in, for it is a cold day."

Emma immediately obeyed the mother's direction.

"Is Mrs. Lowe at home?" inquired Henry Beaumont—for it was he.

"Yes, sir," said Emma; "please walk in, and you may see her."

She ushered the old man into the comfortable sitting room.

Mrs. Lowe arose to receive him.

"I believe," he said, "I'm not mistaken in thinking that your name before marriage was Anna Beaumont?"

"You are right, sir, that was my name."

"And you have no recollection of an uncle that wandered away from home and friends and from whom no tidings have come for many a long year?"

"Yes, sir, I remember him well—my uncle Henry, and I have many times wished I could hear something from him. Can you give me any information?"

"I can, for I am he."

"You my uncle?" said Mrs. Lowe, in surprise, "then you are indeed welcome.—Emma bring your uncle the arm chair and place it close to the fire; and Mary, bring your father's slippers, for I am sure your dear uncle must long to get off those heavy boots. And now, uncle, when you are quite rested, I must demand a recital of your adventures."

"But your brother Alexander," interrupted Mr. Beaumont, "let me first inquire about him. He lives in the city now, does he not?"

A light cloud came over Mrs. Lowe's face.

"Yes," she said, "he does live in the city; yet, strange as it may appear, I seldom or never see him. He has succeeded well and is wealthy; but ever since he married a wife with a small property and greater pride, he has kept aloof from us. I do not blame him so much as his wife, who is said to have great influence over him. I have called once, but she treated me so coldly that I have not felt a disposition to renew my visit."

"I can easily believe it," was the reply, "for I, too, have been repulsed."

"You repulsed? Did you give your name and inform her of your relation to her husband?"

"I did, but she did not invite me to enter; and she was evidently impatient for me to be gone; I took the hint, and here I am."

"At least, uncle," said Mrs. Lowe smilingly, "you need not be afraid of any repulse here?"

"Of that I am quite sure," said the old gentleman, looking affectionately into the face of his niece. "But you have not told me of your husband. Let me know whether you have a good husband," he added playfully.

"That depends upon what is meant by the term. If it implies a rich husband, then I failed, most certainly, for William's salary is only eight hundred dollars a year, and that is what we have to depend upon. But for all that I care not, for a kind, affectionate husband is of far more worth than a magnificent house and the most costly furniture."

"You are right," said her uncle warmly, "and I infer that your husband is of such a character."

"He is in truth."

"Still," continued her uncle, "there must be something which your limited income will not permit you to obtain, but which would be desirable, is there not?"

"Yes said Mrs. Lowe, "I am anxious to give Emma and Mary a musical education, but William's means will not allow of such extravagance as the purchase of a piano; so that is one of the things we must be content to deny ourselves."

Mr. Lowe then entered, and being informed of the character of his visitor, he extended a hearty welcome.

A comfortable repast was soon spread of which Mr. Beaumont readily partook. His spirits rose, and he seemed to grow younger as he saw the cheerful faces around him. Soon after the evening meal he arose to depart.

"Surely, you are not going?" said his niece, "you must henceforth take up your abode with us."

"We will see about that, and if you don't think you will get tired of me perhaps I will come. But I have hired a lodging and must undoubtedly remain in it for a few days. Now bless you [illegible]"

"But you must call in every day and make yourself perfectly at home here [illegible]," persisted the [illegible]

In [illegible] Mr. Beaumont made his appearance next day at eleven o'clock and was received as cordially as before. He had hardly been in the house a quarter of an hour when a loud rap was heard at the door. She admitted a man who had just driven up in a wagon.

"Where is the piano to be put ma'am?" said they inquiring.

"Piano! You have made a mistake; we have not purchased a piano."

"Isn't your name Lowe?"

"Yes."

"Then it is all right. Jim bear a hand for it's confounded heavy."

"But I am quite sure there must be some mistake," still insisted the perplexed Mrs. Lowe.

"Not at all," said a loud voice behind her.

She turned around in amazement.

"You know," continued the uncle, "that I am going to come and live with you, and I thought I would pay my board in advance, that is all. As you expressed a wish yesterday for a piano, I thought it would be as acceptable a way as any."

"You, uncle! Why—excuse me—but I thought from—from—"

"You mean," said he smiling, "that you thought from my appearance that I could not afford it. And I confess that my dress is not in the extreme of the fashion, and in fact I was obliged to look sometime when I called at the second-hand clothing-store before I could find these. However, as I have got all the service I wished out of them, I shall throw them aside to morrow, and appear more respectably clad."

"What are you wealthy, uncle?"

"Depend upon it, Anna, I didn't spend ten years in the East Indies for nothing," was the reply, "I had a mind, however, to put on the appearance of a poor man, and so test the affection and disinterestedness of my relations. One of them, however, is not at home; I am happy to find myself at home with the other."

Let us turn to the aristocratic Mrs. B——, who, in a few evenings succeeding the events here recorded, was in her drawing-room receiving calls.

"By the way," said a fashionable visitor, "I am to have your relatives the Lowe's for my next-door neighbors."

"Next-door neighbors!" exclaimed Mrs. Beaumont in amazement, "what do you mean?"

"Is it possible you have not heard of their good fortune? Mrs. Lowe's uncle has just returned from the East Indies with an immense fortune."

"He has taken a house in the same block as ours, and when they have moved into it, will take up his residence with them.—Meanwhile, he is stopping at the R—— House."

"What! Henry Beaumont."

"The very same, but I thought you knew it."

When the visitor withdrew, Mrs. Beaumont ordered a carriage, and immediately drove to the hotel where her husband's uncle was stopping. She sent up her card and requested an audience.

The servant soon returned with another card on which were traced the significant words:—

"NOT AT HOME."

ALLIE'S GIFT.

HOW IT CAME BACK AGAIN AFTER MANY DAYS.

It was in June, when the roses were blushing in myriads together, and the air was laden with their perfume, that Richard Crindall, with a small bundle in his hand, crept from the house stealthily, and darted quickly away.

The sun was not up, and everything was quiet and still in the morning twilight. He stole along the little path in the orchard and soon stood in front of a large white house, surrounded by trees and flowers of almost every variety. No one was stirring within; all was silent as the tomb. He looked long and wistfully toward one of the windows of the house, and at last he called timidly to the sleeper within.

"Allie," he said, "Allie, look out of the window."

No answer was made, and he called again, this time with more boldness. The shutters were thrown open, and a bright head, with its wealth of golden curls, appeared at the window.

"Allie," whispered the boy. "I am going away, and I want you to come down before I go."

"I'll be down in a minute," was answered in a pretty childish voice. And the golden curls disappeared.

In a few moments, which appeared like hours to the anxious boy, the door was opened cautiously, and Allie Drummond came stealing out. Her shoes were untied, and her pretty curls had seen neither comb nor brush that morning.

"Dick," said she, "are you running away?"

"Yes," said the lad in a solemn tone, "and I'm going to stay until I'm a rich man. I can't bear to stay at home any longer, and be treated like a dog, though if mother was alive I'd bear anything rather than leave her."

The sweet, blue eyes of the little girl were filled with wonder and sympathy.

"Dick," said she, "I shan't take any more comfort after you are gone, but you will be much happier, and I'm glad you are going; when you get to be a great man, and are rich, then you can come back and we will be married together, and never part any more."

"Yes," said Dick, "that is just what I am going to do, but it will be a good many years before I can come back, and you'll see a great many handsome men, and you may forget me."

"Forget you! Why, Dick, you know better," said the child, pouting. "If you never come back, I'll never get married in all the wourld. Are you going to the great city that Uncle Alden told us about?"

"I don't know, Allie," said the boy; "I have only five dollars, and that will not carry me far; I shall go to the city if I can."

They were silent a moment, then Allie said:

"Dick, I must give you a keepsake, so that you'll not forget to come back to me. Wait here a moment till I come."

Softly she stole into the house and up to her room.

"Now," said she to herself, "he has got only five dollars, and I'll give him the money papa gave me yesterday to buy that necklace I liked so much."

She drew it from her purse—a five-dollar bill.

"That will make ten dollars," said she; "but what are ten dollars? Sister Jane pays ten dollars a week for her board."

She went to a trunk, and taking therefrom a little white box, she opened it, and there lay a beatiful diamond pin.

"Aunt Emma gave me this," said she, softly, "to wear when I am grown up; but they say it is worth a great deal of money, and I would much rather Dick would have it than wear it myself."

So she placed the five dollars beside it in the box, and tied the cover on snugly; and putting it in her pocket, she glided down the stairs again, and out to the great elm tree where Dick was waiting for her.

"Now, Dick," said she, "promise me that you will not open this box till to-morrow night."

"I promise," said Dick; "and I thank you for the gift, Allie, whatever it may be."

A stir was heard in the house, and the sun was coming up behind the hills.

"I must go now, Allie," said the boy, with tears in his eyes. "Kiss me, and don't forget me."

"I never will, Dick," said Allie, throwing her arms about his neck and pressing her pretty red lips to his cheeks.

Richard Crindall was sixteen years old, and Alice Drummond was twelve. They had always been friends ever since Allie was a wee baby; and when the brave little girl stole back to her couch, the tears were streaming down her cheeks. Richard was the son of a poor but honest man, who died when his boy was only two years old, leaving nothing for the support of his wife and child. Mrs. Crindall worked for years, and Levi Drew asked her to be his wife and go to his house. She consented, thinking that by so doing her boy might be better provided for; but alas for her hopes! Richard, though worshipped by his mother, perhaps for that very thing was hated by his stepfather; and finally when Squire Drummond asked him to come to his house and be his errand boy, he went joyfully, and in the years he remained there sprang up the friendship between himself and the wealthy squire's daughter. Those days were happy ones to Richard, but when he had been there seven years his mother died, and her husband married again; and as Richard was a stout, capable lad, his stepfather commanded him to return and labor for him. The boy obeyed, but he was miserable there, and he spent hours in planning for the future, and at last resolved to go away. Pretty Alice Drummond was the only being on earth he loved, and to her only he said good by.

Years passed by, and Allie had grown to be a beautiful woman, admired and flattered. Many sought her hand; but she refused them all, for she had not forgotten the promises she had made to Richard Crindall, eight years before. The winter of her twentieth year she was invited by a friend to spend the season in the great city.

She went, and was the star in the brilliant circle to which she was introduced. She had been there but a few weeks, when, one afternoon, as she was descending the steps of her friend's house, a boy accosted her:

"Please, ma'am," said he, "look at this beautiful diamond pin."

She stopped instantly; for she remembered the one she had given to Richard, and she could not but hope that this was the same come back to her.

The boy opened the little white box, and there it lay; the same that her aunt had given her years before.

"Will you buy it, ma'am?" said the boy. "A sick gentleman wished me to sell it for him. He loved the pin, ma'am, and he kissed it before he gave it to me; but money must be had, ma'am, or we die. Will you buy it?"

She held the pin in her hand and was gazing at it eagerly.

"What is the gentleman's name?" said she, in tremulous accents.

"Richard Crindall," said the boy. "He is at my mother's house."

"I will go and see him," said she. "Show me where you live."

The boy started, and she followed, but they had walked only a short distance when the boy stopped at a small, neat-looking house, in a pleasant street.

"This is the house," he said gaily.

And she followed him up the steps, her heart beating tumultuously, and her step quick but tremulous. The room that they entered was neat and comfortable; and lying on the sofa was a pale young man, with his eyes closed in sleep. It was a beautiful face, with the shiny black beard rippling away from the red classic lips, and the silken hair brushed away from the fair, white brow. It was Richard Crindall. The eyes of love knew him instantly. Alice stepped lightly forward and knelt beside the sleeper. She pressed her lips to his forehead, and spoke his name softly. The eyes opened suddenly—those same eyes that used to look so tenderly upon her when a child—he sprang to his feet and clasped her to his breast.

"Allie, Allie!" he cried eagerly. "My little darling, you are the same, only taller and more womanly; but you did not forget me. You are mine, as you promised, my faithful child."

She answered him by clinging closer to his breast.

"I knew you would come," he said, "and I have waited patiently." She looked into his sparkling eyes.

"Dick," she said, playfully, "you have grown tall and handsome, Dick."

"Have I?" said he; "I never promised you that, but I promised to come back rich and——" He stopped, and a shade of paleness passed over his face.

"Never mind," said Allie, gaily. "It was you I loved, and not money. Besides, I have enough for us both."

"But what will your friends say," said he, "if you attempt to marry a poor man like me?"

"My father and mother are dead," said she, a moisture gathering in her eyes; "and I must act for myself."

The young man gathered her closer to his bosom and kissed her drooping eyelids.

"My darling," said he, "you shall never regret your faithfulness to me. I will make you a father, mother, and husband." He sat down and drew her down beside him.

"Were you so poor," said Allie, "that you must sell that diamond pin?"

"Allie," said he, "you will not be angry with me, will you, when I tell you the whole story?"

The timid eyes were raised lovingly to his face.

"No, I will not be angry," she said.—"Tell me all."

"When I left you," Richard began, "I came immediately to this city. I arrived here in the evening, and never having been in the city before, I knew not where to go. I took my bundle and walked along the street, when suddenly I heard screams and the pacing of hoofs. I looked up and saw a span of gray horses dashing down the street at a rapid pace. The people were screaming "Whoa!" from every direction, but the horses only ran fast and faster. As they came nearly opposite to where I stood, I threw my bundle on the ground, and rushed toward them. You remember how much your father used to praise me for the management of horses. I caught the foaming animals by their bridles, standing directly in front of them, and spoke to them soothingly. They tossed their heads and I was lifted from my feet; but others then rushed to my assistance, and the horses were calmed.

"There was a lady and a child in the carriage, who proved to be wife and daughter of Mr. Daggett, one of the wealthiest merchants in the city. The lady insisted on my riding home with her, and I was only too glad to do so; and taking a seat beside the coachman we soon stopped at an elegant mansion. Mr. Daggett won my affection and esteem at once. He seemed much affected when his wife told him of the accident, and he took me by the hand and thanked me over and over, while he inquired into my history. After I had concluded the accont of myself—"

"'Well, my lad,' said he, 'what shall I do for you in partial payment for the great favor you have done me and mine?'

"'Nothing,' said I, 'to pay for what I have done, for it was only my duty; but I am in a great city alone, and if you will give me work, it is all I ask.'

"'You are a brave lad,' said the kind gentleman, 'and I have a place for you in my store.'

"It was just the place I wanted most, and tears of gratitude came into my eyes. The next night I opened the little box you gave me, Allie, and I wept like a child over it. With the five dollars it contained, I purchased this golden circle on my finger, and the diamond pin I have fondly gazed upon ever since. I continued in the store, rising steadily and rapidly, until I was taken as a junior partner."

"Why," said Allie, "I thought you were very poor."

"I have not finished yet," said Richard, smiling. "Last fall," continued he, "I found myself able to support a wife in elegant style; and with my heart beating fast with hope and fear, I went back to Oakville, and called at your father's door Madge answered my call, but she did not know me, and I asked her concerning the family. She told me of the death of your parents, and that you were in New York city to spend the winter. She gave me your direction, then added that she had heard you had found a nice lover there and you were going to marry him. I hastened back to the city, my fears increased and my hopes diminished. I did not call at your father's house, but planned a little ruse for proving your affection and nobleness of heart. Mrs. Green, who lives in this house, has been my laundress for years, and is a kind and honest woman. I told my plan to her, and engaged her little son, Ben, to assist me. You know the rest, Allie; but you do not know how anxiously I awaited the result, nor what a flood of happiness ran through my heart when I felt your lips upon my brow. Now, Allie, can you forgive?"

There was a rosy blush on the cheeks of the young girl, and a prouder light in her eyes.

"Yes yes, I forgive you, Richard; but had I known that you were a wealthy gentleman, I would have been less demonstrative."

Richard walked home with Allie that night, and her young friend declared that Mr. Crindall was the finest looking and genteel young man she had seen in the city. They were married in the merry month of June, and Allie wore the diamond pin upon her bosom, and forever after thanked God that she had waited for Richard Crindall.

FREDERICK DOUGLASS has been earnestly solicited to accept the office of Minister Resident to Hayti, but has respectfully declined it, upon the two-fold ground that he cannot afford to take it, and prefers to dwell in the land of his birth.

THE President has signed the Bill modifying the Tenure-of-Office Act, thus showing him to be in thorough accord with Congress, much to the chagrin of the Copperheads, who have been anxiously hoping for a break between the Executive and Legislative branches of the Government, and catching at straws to sustain their hopes.

ON Friday last the President withdrew the name of Mr. HIESTAND, of Lancaster, whose nomination as Marshal of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania had been sent to the Senate, and substituted that of General ELY, of Bucks county, a friend of Gen. O O. Howard. Hiestand's nomination had been endorsed by most of the Pennsylvania delegation, including Senators Scott and Cameron.

THE removal of Gen. Stoneman from command in Virginia, has been followed by the prompt re-instatement of Gov. Wells, and the removal of a number of Stoneman's appointees throughout the State, whose political status was strongly Secesh. Gen. GRANT will tolerate no trifling by the Rebel element in Virginia or elsewhere. Stoneman's removal gives great satisfaction to the Virginia Republicans, and is bitterly denounced by the Democratic press.

THE nomination of Gen. LONGSTREET, as Surveyor of the Port of New Orleans, was confirmed on Saturday by a vote of 25 to 10. Most of the Southern Republican Senators advocated confirmation, as calculated to help the work of re-construction.—Since the War, Gen. Longstreet has been an unfaltering supporter of the Congressional policy of re-construction, and was fiercely denounced by the Rebel chivalry still clinging to the "lost cause." Senators Cameron and Scott, of this State, opposed the confirmation.

GEORGE S. TWITCHELL, convicted of the murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Hill, of Philadelphia, made a confession last Saturday, charging the crime upon his wife, who killed her mother while he was asleep; that he was aroused by his wife stating that she had a quarrel with the old lady and killed her; that he then assisted his wife to throw the body of the window. The story is not a plausable one, and the Philadelphia papers discredit it, regarding it as a scheme to secure a postponement of his execution which had been fixed for yesterday. The Governor, at last accounts, had declined to interfere.

COMMISSIONER DELANO has issued a circular relative to notice to parties charged with failure, neglect, or refusal to make true returns of annual gains, profits and income. It directs that before assessing the penalty on the person for neglect or refusal to make such return, or for rendering a fraudulent one, the assistant assessor charged with the duty of assessing taxes on the gains, profits, and income of the person charged, shall cause notice to be served on such person fifteen days prior to the day of hearing, notifying him to appear and show cause why the penalties prescribed by law should not be assessed on him by reason of such neglect or refusal.

EX-PRESIDENT JOHNSON, having recovered from his recent attack of illness at Greenville, Tennessee, has taken the stump, and on the 3rd inst., delivered himself at Knoxville, at considerable length, speaking nearly two hours. The speech is largely taken up with self-laudation, abuse of Congress, and fault-finding in general. A. J. claims great credit for persistingly fighting a "usurping, arbitrary and despotic Congress," and if the country goes to the devil, as he feels sure it is fast going, it will not be his fault. He has been endeavoring to arouse his countrymen to their danger, and will continue his efforts while life lasts.—The "bloated bondholder" comes in a fore share of A. J.'s maledictions, and not forgetting his claim to be the "Moses" of the black race, he gives the latter this drive:

> Let me tell you, colored men, and I have never deceived white men or black men, that these men who talk about your old masters have only delivered you up to new masters. You are slaves to the league; let me say to you while they have been enfranchising you and disfranchising white men they have been making you slaves.—Yes, you are all slaves together to the bondholder, who never shed a drop of blood.

Then waxing bold, he throws off the disguise he wore while in Washington, and announces to his Rebel auditors that, after all, his pofessions of Unionism were all bosh—that at heart he was opposed to the war for the suppression of the Rebellion. Here we have it:

> I would to God that the Government had not the credit to borrow a dollar to carry on war. If the people had had beforehand to pay the cost of the war we should never have had one.

Gen. GRANT and the Boys in Blue are thus complimented:

> Thank God, my march has not been through Golgotha, my honors have not been gained by blood. The widows and the one armed soldiers cannot attribute their wrongs to me.

Seriously, is it not mournful that the country should be dishonored before the world by these incoherent, billingsgate utterances of a man who has filled the highest position in the Republic—who does not seem to be able to appreciate the plainest proprieties of position—who aspires to be a common scold and prating demagogue, forgetting that he was once President of the United States.

THE statements as to the progress of the rebellion in Cuba continue to be very contradictory, and it is difficult to get at the truth. Several American citizens, suspected of sympathy with the revolutionists, have been imprisoned by the Spanish authorities, and Gen. GRANT, in reply to representations of these facts, is reported to have declared his determination to protect the rights of all American citizens, wherever jeopardized. In view of possible complications there have been active movements in our Navy, the Gulf Squadron being largely re-inforced. In the mean time the problem of Slavery is likely to be worked out in Cuba in a manner singularly analagous to that of the United States. The rebellion has reached the stage when both the insurgents and Spanish forces are enlisting colored regiments. The insurgents have been doing this for some time. The Spaniards follow the example from necessity but with a bad grace, and claim that the negroes are staunchly loyal. It is probable they will be divided. The enlistments and protestations show that the war is spreading, and argue that however the rebellion results freedom will necessarily follow on the island.

Now that the difficulty in regard to the Tenure-of-Office Act is adjusted, the President has begun to send nominations rapidly to the Senate. On Saturday about 160 were sent in, and large numbers daily since, including Postmasters, Collectors, Assessors, &c.—Among them we notice the following:

Territorial Secretaries—Dakota, T. M. Wilkins; New Mexico, E. L. Perkins; Washington, James Scott; Montana, W. S. Scribner; Arizona, Coles Bassford; Colorado, Frank Hall; Wyoming, E. M. Lee; Utah, S. A. Mann.

Territorial Governors.—Arizona, A. K. Safford; Wyoming, J. A. Campbell; New Mexico, Charles C. Crouse; Dakota, John A. Burbank; Washington, Alvin Flanders; Montana, James M. Ashley.

Postmasters.—Andrew W. Denison, Baltimore; George Bergner, Harrisburg, Pa.; Henry W. Hager, Lancaster; John A. Seiders, Chambersburg; G. W. Z. Black, Frederick, Md.

THE lower house of Congress on Wednesday made short work of the Indian question. Pending the consideration of the Appropriation Bill, the House struck out all the Senate amendments which were based on the treaties made last summer by the Indian Peace Commission, and adopted in their stead a single amendment, offered by Mr. Dawes, which gives the President two million dollars to be used in keeping peace with the Indians on the Plains. This, if agreed to by the Senate, places the solution of the Indian difficulties in the hands of the President.

PRESIDENT GRANT on Monday sent a message to the House of Representatives recommending that Congress take steps to submit the Constitutions of Virginia and Mississippi to the people of those States for ratification, the elections to be held under the direction of the military commanders in both States. As Congress has agreed to adjourn to-morrow, it is not likely that the desired bill can be passed, unless the session be extended.

MR. MOTLEY will be nominated as Minister to England, as the successor of REVERDY JOHNSON. It will be recollected that Mr. MOTLEY was recalled from Austria by Mr. SEWARD, because he would not endorse the President's re-construction policy.

THE Mechanicsburg, Pa., Journal—a sprightly, well conducted journal—has changed hands. Mr. CARMANY, who has been the sole editor for 11 years, has associated with him JOSEPH RITNER, jr., and C. D. ROCKAFELLOW.

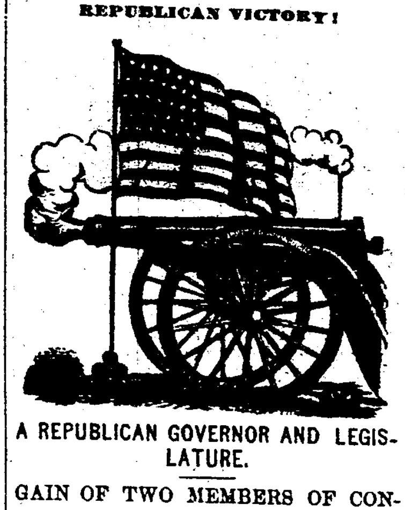
BOTH houses of the Pennsylvania Legislature have passed an act authorizing the Governor to change the sentence of death, on a conviction of murder, to imprisonment for life or a term of years.

THE Association of the Army of the Potomac propose to give a grand banquet in New York on the 6th of July. President Grant, Sherman, Sheridan and Farragut will be present.

SPAIN has chosen a King, and if the hankerings of some of the old-line Democrats are gratified, we may be looking around for somebody to call "Majesty."—Andy Johnson, in his recent speech at Knoxville, told the people "that a wise and good Prince is infinitely better than a despotic, arbitrary Congress," and in New York a prospectus has been issued for a paper to be published under the name of the Imperialist, which, while holding Democracy to be a failure, will "demand that, on the ruins of this unfortunate Republic, shall be reared the firm and substantial structure of an Empire." But the result in Connecticut is not flattering to these Imperialists.

THE CONNECTICUT ELECTION

REPUBLICAN VICTORY!



A REPUBLICAN GOVERNOR AND LEGISLATURE.

GAIN OF TWO MEMBERS OF CONGRESS.

The election in Connecticut on Monday resulted in a signal Republican triumph—JEWELL being elected Governor by 800 majority over ENGLISH, with three Republican members of Congress out of four, and a Republican majority of nearly 40 in the Legislature. Senator DIXON, who followed Andy Johnson in his betrayal of the Republican party, is badly beaten for Congress. Although Grant carried the State last fall, the Democracy carried it at the last two State elections, under the lead of Mr. ENGLISH, one of the wealthiest and most popular men in the State; and as ENGLISH lead their ticket again success was counted on as sure. Besides this, the Republicans went into the canvass, pledged to a support of Manhood Suffrage, and the Democracy made the most of the "nigger," appealing to ignorance, passion and prejudice to arrest the march of Freedom. But all without avail.

The new Legislature will vote on the Suffrage Amendment to the Constitution, and it is this feature of the result which is especially gratifying. The Legislature being largely Republican secures the ratification of that Amendment. The battle was fought squarely on this issue, and Connecticut takes her place in the column of Freedom.—All honor to her people.

HARTFORD, April 6.—Complete returns from every town in the State give the following result:

Jewell	45,498
English	44,687
Republican majority	811

The Legislature stands as follows:—Senate—Republicans, 14; Democrats, 7.

House—Republicans, 132; Democrats, 106.

The vote for Congressmen is as follows:—

First District	—Strong, Rep.	11,620
	Dixon, Dem.	10,885
	Rep. majority	735
Second District	—Kellogg, Rep.	13,431
	Babcock, Dem.	13,059
	Rep. majority	372
Third District	—Starkweather, Rep.	9,122
	Conver—Dem.	6,853
	Rep. majority	2,269
Fourth District	—Beardsley, Rep.	11,904
	Barnum, Dem.	13,097
	Dem. majority	1,193

Rhode Island, O. K!

Rhode Island has followed in the wake of New Hampshire and Connecticut, and recorded an emphatic endorsement of Manhood Suffrage. The annual election took place on Tuesday.—As the new Legislature will have to pass on the Suffrage Amendment, the Copperheads of Rhode Island, like those of Connecticut, made the most of the "nigger." The result is the election of PANDELFORD, Republican, for Governor by about 4,000 majority in a very light vote. The Legislature is overwhelmingly Republican. The Senate will stand 27 Republicans and 6 Democrats; the House 61 Republicans and 11 Democrats.

EX-QUEEN Isabella recently resolved to visit all the convents in Paris. At one of them she was received without any sort of ceremony, and, on leaving, no one but the Lady Superior accompanied her to the door. "Why am I not treated with more respect than this? asked Her Majesty.—The Superior meekly replied that it was not the custom of the house to do extraordinary honor to visitors. No exception was made to the rules for a Queen. "Why, in Spain," exclaimed the Queen angrily, "the nuns kneel when I enter their convent.' "Oh, madam!" was the answer, "here we only kneel to God."

THREATENED OUTBREAK IN ITALY.—Affairs in Italy are rapidly approaching a crisis. The Republican party is daily assuming a more menacing attitude. Mazzini has divided Italy into four governments, to each of which a chief has been appointed. Genoa, Bologna, Florence and Naples are the centres of action. Everything betokens an approaching struggle, and so fully is the King aware of this that he has made large investments in foreign securities, in order to provide for the worst. Garibaldi is very ill, and a general break of his constitution is feared.

THE majority in the Spanish Cortes have adopted a resolution to support Ferdinand, the father of reigning King of Portugal, for the throne of Spain, and the Council of Ministers have endorsed their action. A delegation has been sent to Lisbon to invite him to accept. Latest despatches state that Ferdinand has postively declined the invitation of the Cortes to accept the Spanish throne. It is quite probable this result was anticipated, and that the choice of Ferdinand was only made as a preliminary to the falling back upon the Duke of Montpensier, who is the real preference of General Prim and the other leaders of the Monarchical party in Spain.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.—In the Post Office Department a list of the employes in each bureau has been prepared, and Postmaster General Creswell is giving it a careful examination, to ascertain how many can be spared from each branch, and to select from the list the individuals to be discharged. This will occupy his time, with the pressure of other business, for about two weeks, when the process of decapitation will begin. It is estimated that within the next three months there will be dismissed from all the Government departments between four and five hundred employees of both sexes.

A LETTER from Tamworth (N. H.,) says that Mr. William Price, of that town, caught in a small steel trap a white-headed eagle last week that measured from tip to tip seven and one half feet, from tip of the bill to the end of the tail three feet, weighing eleven pounds. The trap was fastened to the carcass of a sheep that would probably weigh more than fifty pounds, and such was the strength of the eagle that he would raise the carcass from the ground. He showed so much fight that Mr. Price was compelled to kill him.

AN Oregon paper publishes marriages under the heading, "Fixed to stay." In Chicago the proper title for marriage notices would be "Nix for stay."

SAXE says in his new lecture: "Laws, like sausages, cease to inspire respect in proportion as we know how they are made."

THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES.—Gen. Grant has appointed and the Senate has confirmed two colored men, one of whom was formerly a slave, to offices of honor and emolument, and Connecticut has elected a Legislature that will ratify the Fifteenth Amendment.

CONSTANT, Napoleon's valet de chambre, sold his papers in 1817 to Metternich for ten thousand francs. Metternich never permitted them to be inspected, owing to the scandalous disclosures which they contained in regard to Napoleon's liaisons with certain ladies of the Austrian court. These interesting papers are still in possession of the Metternich family.

THE question of the genuineness of a will in a case tried a few days since at Laconia, N. H., turned on the consistency of its date with the paper it was written on. It bore the die of the Hampshire Paper Company, of Holyoke, and J. W. Southworth, of that company, testifying that the company did not exist at the alleged date of the will, proved the document a forgery.

JOHN BROWN, an eccentric colored barber of Akron, Ohio, died on the 30th ult., leaving property valued at $35,000. In the year 1849, when colored children were refused admittance into common schools, Mr. Brown erected a school-house in Cleveland at his own expense. For some time he hired teachers and paid them, the school being free to the children of his race.

MICHIGAN is the place for ladies. The Senate of that State has passed a bill providing that if any person shall hereafter wilfully or indecently annoy any female by any obscene or indecent word or words, act or acts, such persons shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in county jail not more than six months or by a fine not exceeding $100.

SINGULAR LAW.—Under the statute of Indiana civil suit can be brought against a murderer by the representative of the party killed. A Mrs. Clem having murdered a Mr. Young, the representatives of the murdered man have brought suit against the husband of Mrs. Clem for damages. It behooves men proposing matrimony in that State to require a bond from his proposed wife's relatives which saves him harmless in case the wife kills anybody.

THE silly and dangerous practice of joking with firearms will prove a rather expensive business in Michigan hereafter. The Legislature of that State has passed an act imposing a fine of not more than fifty and not less than five dollars upon any one "who shall intentionally, without malice, point or aim any firearm at any other person." The discharging of a firearm, even when it does not occasion injury, is punished with a fine of one hundred dollars, and not less than one year's imprisonment.

THE STORM BREWING.—In nearly all the Departments at Washington, a careful census of the employees is being taken.—Among the questions asked the females are whether any one upon whom they were dependent was killed or crippled during the war; what other means of support they have; whether married or single; how many children, &c. The series of questions propounded indicate pretty clearly that a good war record will be required to retain a position.

EFFECT OF THE NOMINATIONS.—Each batch of appointments sent to the Senate by President Grant operates directly as an emetic on the hotels in Washington. The office-seekers, who crowded them to their utmost capacity for the past month, are leaving by hundreds. It is estimated that at least ten thousand have departed since the first of the month. There are, nevertheless, many who remain, even after their first applications have proved unsuccessful, in hopes of getting something else.

THE GREAT ROBBERY AT PHILADELPHIA.

Over One Million Dollars Stolen—Escape of the Robbers with their Plunder.

The Beneficial Saving Fund Society, at the southwest corner of Twelfth and Chestnut street, Philadelphia, was robbed some time on Sunday last of bonds and other securities amounting, it is though, to over $1,000,000. The Society employs a private watchman, but it appears that on Sunday he leaves the building at six o'clock in the morning. At that hour everything was secure. About four o'clock in the afternoon, the proprietor of the billiard saloon, in the second story, desired to enter the premises, the door of which is on Twelfth street, and immediately in the rear of the Society building, and is in fact an addition to the main building, but being unable to do so, at once informed the President of the Society, Mr. Charles A. Repplier, of the fact.

Entrance was effected at last by getting into the billiard saloon through a Chestnut street entrance, and then down the stairway leading from Twelfth street. Here it was discovered that the window opening on the stairway had been pried open, and through this the President and other gentlemen entered the office of the Society.—They found the gas burning, and the office floor strewn with envelopes, which had contained the securities of the Society. On searching carefully, it was discovered that every bond held by the Society, to the amount of over $800,000, had been stolen, as well as some $200,000 or $300,000, it is supposed, coupon and registered bonds, that had been left in the fire-proof by private individuals, for safe keeping.

The fire-proof is built of brick and stone, inside the office, with double doors of chilled iron, the outer door being locked with a combination lock. The burglars went to work in the most skilful and systematic manner, and must have completed the job in a few hours. They placed in front of the fire-proof door a stout piece of oak timber, about four feet long, the end fastened to the floor by strong iron clamps; to this another piece of timber was connected, as a brace. A large iron brace and bit of the finest steel was then brought to bear upon the lock, and after removing the plate containing the letter, a hole was drilled through the door into the lock, breaking the bolt, and thus allowing the door to be easily opened.

The breaking of the inner door was but a trifling matter, and the work of rifling the tin boxes containg securities belonging to private individuals commenced. Everything was taken from them except a $1,000 bond, which seemed to have escaped their notice. The Treasurer of the Society, Mr. Patrick Quinn, had $50,000 worth of bonds of his own in a box taken; of these $45,000 were coupon bonds. The amounts belonging to other private individuals could not be asscertained last evening as the boxes are only placed in thefire-proof for safety.

The securities held by the Society, to the amount of about $800,000, and $8,000 in cash, were kept in a small iron safe, which was also inside the fire-proof. This safe had four lock, each with a different kind of key, but with powerful purchases the locks were broken, to all appearances, with great ease.

The mortgages, amounting to $250,000, were not disturbed, but the other securities were removed. They consisted of $126,000 city six per cent. loan; $93,000 United States Five-twenty bonds; $83,000 Pennsylvania War Loan, coupon bonds; $10,00 New Jersey six per cent. coupon bonds; $20,000 Delaware six per cent. coupon bonds; $15,000 North Pennsylvania coupon bonds; $1,000 mortgage bond, same road; $144,000 United States bonds, '81s; $25,00 Philadelphia and Erie bonds; $32,000 Alleghany county bonds; $2,000 Camden City coupon bonds; $26,000 Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad bonds; $64,000 Schuylkill Navigation Loan; $23,000 Camden and Amboy coupon bonds; $40,000 Long Island Railroad; $1,000 North Pennsylvania 7 per cent. bond; $32,000 Alleghany 5 per cent. loan. The registered bonds stolen amount to about $400,000, and the coupon bonds to about $150,000; the mortgages not touched to $250,000.

The depositors of this Society number about 3,000, and, of course, the securities stolen were held for their benefit. To meet the loss sustained, the Society will secure the registered bonds, the mortgages, besides the real estate, worth some $80,000, making a total of $730,000 to meet their liabilities, even if the coupon bonds should not be recovered.

The place of the robbery was soon examined by Chief Enue, his detectives, and by officers and directors of the Society, and great astonishment was expressed at the possibility of the burglars making off with the property in broad day light, for the robbery must have been committed during Sunday morning. The number of bonds stolen would make a bulk of papers not easily hidden. A list of the bonds and their numbers were taken for the purpose of giving early notice of the robbery. The Society authorized Chief Enue to offer a reward of $25,000 for the arrest of the burglars.

In addition to the bonds belonging to the Society, there was a large amount in boxes, belonging to private parties, deposited for safety. The valuables were in a vault, with a Lillie combination lock, which, as well as the smaller safe inside, was bored into with apparent ease.

A careful examination of the safe was made next day by experienced workmen in the presence of the detective officers.

No clue has yet been obtained as to the thieves, and there is much excitement among the depositors. That so daring a burglary should be successfully committed in broad day light, in the very heart of the city, without attracting attention, excites a sense of insecurity, which is all the greater that the crime was so skilfully perpetrated as to baffle all conjectures as to the guilty persons.

A CHILD ATTACKED BY RATS.—Much of its Flesh Eaten Off.—The Reading Dispatch says: From Douglassville, this county, we have an account of a sad and shocking occurence which took place on last Monday night. It appears that the house of Mr. Joseph Holloway, near Douglassville, is infested with rats and so complete is their sway that they undertook to drive the family from their home. On the night mentioned a little child was put in its bed and after it had gone to sleep, several large rats attacked it and eat a large portion of the flesh off its hands, arms and face, before its cries were heard by the parents. The mutilation of the child is related as horible and heart-sickening. Medical aid was summoned, but it is feared that the child cannot long survive its injuries. Where rats infest houses, too much precaution cannot be exercised to avoid their poisonous bites.

A RATHER funny thing was developed in a recent trial between two Germans in New York city. It came out that the great whale, which used to disport himself so furiously in the New York "aquarium," to the great awe and amusement of visitors, was nothing more nor less than a piece of mechanism, with a man inside of it. One of these Germans was the Jonah in the belly of this artificial monster.

THE Providence (R. I.) Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church have resolved that "no candidate for membership shall be deemed eligible until he shall have unequivocally and frankly affirmed his abstinence from the use of tobacco, during so much of the time of his trial for membership as shall succeed the passage of this rule, nor until he shall have pledged himself in future to abstain from its use, except it be for medical purposes."

NEWS OF NEIGHBORING COUNTIES.

CARROLL.—Granville Wilson, of New Windsor district, has been appointed Superintendent of the Alms-house, vice Mr. Taylor removed.—A new Methodist Episcopal Church is to be built in Westminster, to cost $11,500; $9,300 have already been subscribed.—Twenty-five shares of stock of the 1st National Bank of New Windsor were sold last week at $105 and $105 a share, par value $100; this is the same bank that was robbed sometime ago.

FRANKLIN.—Over $80,000 have been subscribed in the neighborhood of Mercersburg to the proposed Railroad.—Over two hundred families have removed from Chambersburg to other places since the first of January.—Samuel Dine, who served faithfully through the war in the battery recruited by Colonel Housum, died in Chambersburg on Thursday last.

FREDERICK.—G. W. Z. Black has been appointed Postmaster at Frederick, and George S. Harp at Wolfsville.

WASHINGTON.—Jacob L. Richards has been appointed Postmaster at Hancock; Solomon Steinmetz at Clear Spring, and Mrs. H. Benton at Sharpsburg.—A great Horse Show, under the management of the Washington County Agricultural Association, will take place on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 25th, 26th and 27th, at Hagerstown. Premiums amounting to $1,000 will be offered, among which is one of $300 to the fastest Horse, who must make the mile inside of three minutes, as well as numerous other Premiums from $100 down. The Committee also offer one Premium of $50 and two Premiums of $25 each for the best Velocipedists.

YORK.—On the 25th ult., a son of Frederick Sweitzer, Hanover, aged 7 years, fell from an outhouse on his father's premises, and broke his shoulderbone.—The Hanover Branch Railroad Company are having two new passenger cars built at York.—The measles is prevalent in York, but in a mild form.—On the 26th ult., the Ice Cream and Cigar manufactory of D. M. Henry, Seven Valley, was destroyed by fire.—John M. Seely has been arrested in York on the charge of poisoning his father-in-law, James Robinson, an aged man who died several weeks ago in that place.—Samuel Trone, of Hanover, last week fell from a porch at his residence to the pavement, breaking one of his legs.—The barn of P. Baum, West Manheim, with contents, was destroyed by fire on the night of the 1st inst.—Last week six sons of Samuel Diller, deceased, of Hanover, after celebrating their mother's birth-day, concluded to have themselves weighed. The weighed 1,429 pounds.

A VOLUNTEER TEACHER OF COLORED CHILDREN.—The Frederick (Md.) Republican states that Miss Eliza Mitchell, of Petersville district, a descendant of the Pilgrim Fathers of St. Mary's, who has been teaching a school for the benefit of colored children for more than a year past, furnishing books, stationery, etc., in aid of this laudable undertaking, and devoting all her time to teaching, is just having erected at her own expense, without any aid from the Freedmen's Bureau or any other source, save the all-seeing eye of the Divine Benignity, a new school-house, at a cost of some $600 or $700, and intends supplying it with all the necessary conveniences of modern progress, in order that the young colored children, some twenty or twenty-five in number, under her care, may receive the benefit of a good education. She intends sparing no exertions in seeing that their youthful minds are properly trained. Miss Mitchell is a devoted member of the Catholic Church, and the facts related prove that she has no "prejudices to conquer" in educating the children of freedmen.

THE FINANCES OF YORK COUNTY.—During a recent visit through York county, we were credibly informed by one of the substantial taxpayers of that county that their County Commissioners were then on an official visit to Baltimore for the purpose of borrowing the sum of thirty-five thousand dollars for the use of that county; and that they offered the exorbitant interest of one per cent. a month for that amount. We were astonished to hear that a rich county like York should go to Baltimore money shavers to obtain money, when the county officials of an adjoining county can obtain as much as they desire at six per cent. per annum. Our friend remarked, "Well, your county is under the management of Republicans, and we are in the hands of a corrupt Democratic party, who are constantly squandering the public money." We have since learned the Commissioners failed to obtain the money, even at that rate.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

THE Copperheads are always grumbling about the National Debt, and endeavoring to create the impression among ignorant people that it is increasing. The N. Y. Tribune gives a flat contradiction to the latter assertion. The debt, it says, was over $2,757,000,000, on the first of August, and also on the 1st of September, 1865. It was but $2,544,336,964 on the 1st instant. Paid off in three and a half years, of principal, at least two hundred and thirteen millions of dollars. But this is not all. We have moreover paid, says the Tribune, immense sums to soldiers as musteringout bounties, &c., to States for their volunteers in the war for the Union, &c. The actual reduction of our indebtedness since the war ended is nearer four than three hundred million. Why cannot Copperhead newspapers tell their readers the honest truth?

BRIGHAM Young lately lectured the ladies of Mormondom on education, and among other remarks, made these pertinent ones: "See, in the fashionable world, the education given to a young lady! It consists mainly of how to bow and curtsey, how to meet a gentleman, how to be graceful in a ball room, how to get into and out of a carriage, how to walk on the streets, how high her clothes should be lifted, or how many feet they should drag behind her; and, in addition to this, to thrum on the piano and have a smattering of French or Italian.—These are what should be called female loafers; they are no good to themselves or anybody else. They cannot knit their stockings, make their dresses or underclothing, or do anything useful."

THE self-exiled Southerners who left the country after the war because they thought they could not breathe the to them detested air in which the Star Spangled Banner floated are now anxious to get back, and in order to facilitate their return the Government of the United States, with a magnanimity almost unparalleled, has directed Admiral Davis to furnish free transportation, on a Government vessel, to any citizens of the United States who may now be voluntary exiles in Brazil. To what a humiliation these hot-headed sons of the South have thus subjected themselves. How much better to have remained upon their native soil and accepted the situation after Lee's surrender.

MASONIC CELEBRATION.—The fiftieth anniversary of St. John's Commandery, to be celebrated in this city on the 5th of June, promises to be one of the most memorable events in the History of the Order. A programme has not been finally determined upon, but there will be a parade of the Knights in full regalia. In the line about three hundred members from Boston, one hundred and fifty from Baltimore, two hundred from Washington, and delegates from other cities, East and West. There will be a grand review by the officers of the Grand Commandery, on Broad street, an oration and a banquet in the afternoon, and a ball in the evening at the Academy of Music. *Phila. MR. Charles M. Wilder, confirmed as Post-master at Columbia, S. C., is, we believe, the first freedman confirmed in an important office by the Senate. Mr. W. was a slave until after the breaking out of the war, and up to the time of gaining his freedom worked at his trade as carpenter. Since then he has been Deputy United States Marshal and member of the Legislature. He is represented as a tall, good-looking mulatto, possessing a fair education, good business qualifications, and an excellent character. His office is worth $3,200 per annum.

THE latest scandal in English high life is the elopement of Mrs Vivian, wife of Capt. Vivian, a member of the present British Ministry, with the Marquis of Waterford. The husband followed the truants to Paris, where his wife attempted to commit sucide, but failed. Although her husband is reported to have promised to keep the affair secret if she returned, she refused, and the husband then declined to permit her to retain her youngest child. The Marquis subsequently sent a communication to the Captain, pledging his honor to marry Mrs. Vivian the moment her husband procures a divorce.

NEW COOKING STOVE.—The attention of Housekeepers is invited to the EXCELSIOR PENN COOK STOVE, which has recently been brought into the market, and bids fair to throw all other Stoves into the shade. This Stove took the first premium at the State Fair held in Harrisburg last fall. Among its peculiar merits are the large Oven and Flues, and general simplicity, not being encumbered with unnecessary appendages, which in many stoves only enhance the cost without being of practical use. For beauty of design, quality of material, and general excellence, it cannot be excelled. The price is lower than any other first-class Cook Stove in market, and yet is warranted to cook and bake equal to the best. The Excelsior Penn Cook can be seen at the Wareroom of Col. C. H. BUEHLER, on Carlisle street, Gettysburg, who is the Agent for this place. Call and see it. tf

THE GREAT RESORT.—Last fall brought a marvelous increase of business to the great Clothing House of Pennsylvania—Oak Hall. There were days when the sales of the concern touched the lofty figures of twelve thousand dollars in one day. This of course was owing in general to the prodigious efforts put forth by Wanamaker & Brown to meet the wants and wishes of the people in the matter of low prices and desirable goods.—But no small part of the credit is due to the country people who seem to go en masse; county after county supplying itself from the boundless and varied stock of the Largest Clothing House. Having made this good begining, the proprietors have no fears of not being able to continue in the favor and patronage of their friends from out of town; but have determined to please them so well this season that Oak Hall shall become the great "Resort" of the country trade. 1t

HEAD QUARTERS REMOVED.—Capt. NORRIS, has removed his store to Arnold's Corner, next door to the 1st National Bank, where you will find one of the best and cheapest Stock of Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots, and Shoes, and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods of every discription, in the county. He is selling Winter Clothing at greatly reduced prices to make room for Spring Goods. If you want a BARGAIN go to NORRIS' corner. All kinds of Men's and Boy's Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes as cheap as before the War. If you don't elieve this, call and be convinced.—Don't orget the place. tf.

A WORD TO THE WISE.—Persons going to Housekeeping this spring would do well to call at Col. C. H. BUEHLER'S extensive Ware-room, near the Passenger depot, on Carlisle street, who has on hand a very large assortment of Stoves of the best manufacture, Cooking, Parlor, Office, and Chamber Stoves, for wood or Coal; also Hollow Ware, Tin Ware, Japan Ware, Britannia Ware, Bird Cages, and a general assortment of Kitchen utensils, necessary in house keeping, and at very low prices

ALL KINDS OF JOB WORK.—Having largely added to our facilities for Job Printing, we are now enabled with the aid of our Campbell Power Press, Gordon Jobber, and Hand Presses, to turn out promptly all kinds of Printing, from the smallest Card to the largest Poster, including Pamphlets, Speeches, Catalogues, Circulars, Programmes, &c. BRAD-AWLS INEFFECTUAL.—The buffaloes found in the telegraph poles of the overland line a new source of delight on the treeless prairie—the novelty of having something to scratch against. But it was expensive scratching for the telegraph company; and there, indeed, was the rub, for the bisons shook down miles of wire daily. A bright idea struck somebody to send to St. Louis and Chicago for all the brad-awls that could be purchased, and these were driven into the poles with a view to wound the animals and check their rubbing propensity. Never was a greater mistake.—The buffaloes were delighted. For the first time they came to scratch they got a sensation in their thick hides that thrilled them from horn to tail. They would go fifteen miles to find a brad awl. They fought huge battles around poles containing them, and the victor would proudly climb the mountainous heap of rump and bump of the fallen and scratch himself into bliss until the brad awl broke or pole came down. There has been no demand for brad-awls from the Kansas region since the first invoice.

POPULATION.—Mr. Delmar attempted a census in 1868 on his own account and through the Assessors of Internal Revenue. The work has been stopped, but from the returns already made, and the estimates, the recapitulation is as follows: White population of the States, 33,291,081; colored, 4,639,862; total, 37,930,903. The total with the population of the District of Columbia and the Territories is 38,422,995.—The reported population of California includes Indians and Chinese. Maine includes 500 Indians; Michigan includes about 4,000 Indians; Minnesota includes 8,000 Indians; Oregon includes 7,720 Indians and 2,436 Chinese; Rhode Island also includes a few Indians. The reported and estimated population include 60,000 Indians and Chinese.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.—Charles Merriet attempted to kill Miss Monks, who refused to company him home from church, at Cold Spring, N. York, on Friday. All are respectably connected. It appears that he had requested her company on several occasions for some time past, and was refused. When he was refused on Friday night, he seized her by the hair of her head and threw her down, presented a pistol at her breast and pulled the trigger. The cap did not explode, and he re-cocked the weapon and pulled again and again, but it failed to explode. He was in the act of attempting to fire again, when his brother dashed the pistol aside. He had written a letter to the lady telling her that if she refused his company again he would murder her. The pistol was heavily loaded.

MANHOOD.—IN THE YOUNG AND RISING generation, the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which Nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged.—The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Langour, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular system, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this Medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears.—The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere. Price $1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

MARSHALL'S ELIXIR.

Headache—Dyspepsia—Costiveness.

IF you suffer with Headache try MARSHALL'S ELIXIR, and be convinced that although other remedies have failed to cure you, this will give you instant and permanent relief.

If by over-excitement and fatigue your nerves have become so weakened that Headache admonishes you something more dangerous may happen, such as

and other alarming nervous affections, then Marshall's Elixir, by giving tone and strength to your system, restores you to perfect health.

Whenever food which should be digested remains in the stomach, causing pain and uneasiness for the want of that principle which would render it easy of digestion, then by using Marshall's Elixir you will supply this deficiency and prevent its recurrence, and so be radically cured of Dyspepsia.

The stomach being thus cleansed from an unhealthy to a healthy condition, costiveness and the other attendant disorders of the bowels are of necessity prevented.

Price of Marshall's Elixir, $1 00 per bottle.

"TRUE MERIT WILL ALWAYS HAVE ITS REWARD."

It is certain that no truth has ever been more satisfactorily demonstrated in our midst than the above, as may be seen daily in the immense demand for that invaluable and popular tonic and stimulus, MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS. It is the one thing needful for persons whose surroundings are unfavorable for good health, because it is a perfect protection against all morbid influences productive of disease. The present is the most fitting season for reinforcing the organs of our bodies, and insuring our health during the "cold term." We are all more or less negligent, but there are many persons who are always behind in this matter, consequently each change in the season comes along before they are prepared for it, and sickness seizes upon them, followed by all its train of ills. Begin now to ward off disease by using MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS every day regularly, and all the characteristics of good health will spring up within and continue with you. [Jan. 15.—3m No. 2

A CARD.

A Clergyman, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the Cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Diseases of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the recipe for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, free of charge. Address

The Star and Sentinel.

Gettysburg, Friday, April 9, 1869.

TOWN SUBSCRIBERS.—The recent change of residences has disarranged the Carrier's list, and on Friday some were missed. Persons in town failing to get their papers will please promptly inform the Carrier or send word to the office.

PAPERS MISSING.—We have been a good deal annoyed during the last few weeks with complaints from various quarters of failures to receive the "STAR AND SENTINEL." Our entire edition is mailed from printed lists, and there is no possibility of any names being omitted. The papers leave the Gettysburg Post office regularly by mails leaving on Friday and Saturday. The failures complained of must be attributed to the negelect or carelessness of Post office officials through whose hands the papers pass.

☞ Don't fail to go to hear Willits, Wednesday evening. 1t

GAS.—We understand the Town Council have ordered a Gas Lamp to be put up at the corner of East Middle and Stratton streets.

SOLD.—George B. Stover has sold his farm in Cumberland township, 43 acres with improvements, to Wm. H. Wierman, for $4,000.

☞ The Agents of a Reading Mining Company have been prospecting for Iron ore in Oxford township, on the line of the Carlisle pike.

APPEALS.—Mr. McSHERRY, District Assessor, announces through the Compiler that the Revenue Tax Appeals for this county will be held at the office of J. C. NEELY, Esq., in this place, on the 13th instant.

THE FIRST.—The stringency in the money market made the business incident to the 1st of April move sluggishly this year. There were many disappointments and failures to meet engagements; but a spirit of forbearance and concession has generally prevailed, and the difficulties have been pretty well bridged over.

ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday morning last, Mr. JACOB AUGHINBAUGH, of this place, met with a serious injury, while working on the new Livery Stable in course of erection by Mr. Perry Tate. While fitting the rafters, a hatchet in Mr. Aughinbaugh's hands glanced from a hard knot and cut a deep gash in his right knee, at the joint. The wound is an ugly one and will disable him for some time.

BUSINESS.—The Spring trade is about opening, and our business men are receiving new supplies of goods. Now is the time to look carefully at Advertisements. Business men who advertise liberally are generally found to possess tact and energy, and are prepared to offer inducements to secure custom. If you wish to make Spring purchases, or deal in any line of business, look up the advertisements of live business men.

DEATH OF A CENTENARIAN.—We learn that Mr. Jacob Wolff, residing in the vicinity of Abbottstown, Adams county, died on the 19th ult., at the extreme age of one hundred years. He had 12 children—7 living and 5 dead; grand children, 65 living, 15 dead; great grand children, 265 living, 26 dead; great great grand children, 3 living—making 240 living and 46 dead, or a total of 286.—Hanover Spectator.

ANOTHER LECTURE BY DR. WILLITS.—Rev. Dr. WILLIS, of Philadelphia will deliver another Lecture in Agricultural Hall, on Wednesday evening next. his theme being the "Model Wife." Those who heard his "Sunshine in the Heart," will, of course, be on hand next Wednesday evening. To all others who want to pass a pleasant evening with a genial talker, we unhesitantly recommend the coming Lecture. It is said to be fully equal to "Sunshine in the Heart," and if but half as good it will pay to go and hear him. Wednesday being Prayer-meeting evening, the Lecture will not be delivered until 8 o'clock.

STOLEN.—A valuable Black Mare was stolen from the stable of James A. Grimes, of Cumberland township, on Thursday night last, together with a new quilted calfskin Saddle, plain Bridle and Martingales. The mare is 7 years old, clean limbed, cut in the front feet from racking, small star in the face, light mane, switch tail, one white foot behind, and old collar marks. She was the running mare formerly owned by F. Rahter, of Harrisburg. Mr. Grimes offers a reward of $50—$25 for the arrest and conviction of the thief, and $25 for recovery of the mare or any information that will lead to her recovery.

ARRESTED.—On Friday evening last, officer Rouzer received information from Baltimore that a German had committed a robbery in that city, and had left with several trunks, as was supposed in this direction. Mr. Rouzer learned that a person answering to the description was in Hanover, and with assistants took a hand-car—went down to Hanover, and after some trouble arrested the man and brought him Gettysburg. On Saturday morning he was taken before Esquire Myers, who discharged him, no person being willing to make information as to the alleged robbery, and because of uncertainty as to the man's indentity. He returned to near Hanover, and was again arrested on Saturday night, about eight miles from that place, by detectives from Baltimore, who had been apprised by telegram of his arrest here. The Baltimore American gives his name as A. W. Ehrhartt, and says he is charged with stealing between $900 and $1000 from Wm. Schellhaus, proprietor of a public house, at 129 Franklin street, in that city.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Now that Spring has fairly opened, the spirit of improvement in our borough has developed itself with renewed activity, and on all hands we note preparations in this line. In addition to the buildings heretofore noticed as in the course of erection, we note the following;

Perry J. Tate is preparing for the erection of extensive livery stables in the rear of his dwelling, on Chambersburg street.

Messrs. Cashman have a large house about completed in North Stratton street, near Cress's warehouse, and in connection therewith a Carpenter Shop.

John M. Minnigh, having gone out of the Confection business, is about erecting a two-story dwelling on the lower end of Chambersburg street.

Peter Kuhn designs building a two-story brick dwelling on North Stratton street.

Prof. Baugher has commenced the erection of a large dwelling on North Carlisle street, nearly opposite "Stevens Hall."—Other buildings will go up in the same neighborhood.

On York street, Jesse M. Walter will put up a two-story brick dwelling, adjoining his present residence.

Wm. E. Biddle is about putting up a commodious store house, on his lot, a few doors below the Lutheran church.

Near the corner of East street, W. B. Meals has modernized his residence and addded a store room, the whole looking very much better than it did before.

Immediately opposite, Charles Stallsmith is about to build a large two-story frame dwelling, in tasteful style.

A square lower down, Wm. Reilley is putting the finishing touches upon a double cottage, three stories plastered, parlors frescoed, &c.

A short distance below this, Wm. Grumbine has put up a snug frame residence.

In the same street, R. G. McCreary, Esq., John Cress and W. F. Baker will erect commodious back-buildings.

In West Middle street, Jacob Hankey has a two-story frame nearly ready for the painters; John Bart a one-story frame nearly finished.

MASON AND DIXON'S LINE.—No geographical line, real or imaginary, during the last half century, has been the subject of more general reference than "Mason and Dixon's Line," and none less generally understood. Constituting the southern boundary of Pennsylvania, and the dividing line between this State, and Delaware and Maryland, and thereby the dividing line of the Free and Slave States of the Atlantic slope, until where it struck the Ohio river, "Mason and Dixon's Line" passed into popular use in the fierce discussions which so long agitated the country by reason of the "irrepressible conflict" between Freedom and Slavery. Now that the contest has been ended in the entire abolition of Slavery throughout the Republic, this geographical line ceases to have any national importance. Still, in view of the past, a few facts in connection with its origin may not be uninteresting to the reader.

In 1854, Hon. John H. B. Latrobe, of Baltimore, delivered an able and interesting lecture before the Pennsylvania Historical Society, in which he dwells at length upon the subject.

It seems that the grants of land to Lord Baltimore, Wm. Penn, and the Dutch settlers of Delaware, were somewhat indefinite and difficulty arose as to the boundaries of the several grants. The grant to Penn made part of his southern boundary to consist of "a circle drawn at twelve miles distant from Newcastle northward and westward, unto the beginning of the 40th degree of Northern latitude."

On the 4th of July, 1760, the heirs of Penn and Lord Baltimore executed a deed of boundary settlement, under which, together with the decisions of the English Court of Chancery, Commissioners were appointed to run the boundary line between Maryland on the one hand, and Delaware and Pennsylvania on the other. The surveyors, under the deed, were Thomas Garnett, Jonathan Hall, John Luken, Archibald McClean, John F. A. Priggs, Archibald Emory, John Watson and William Shankland; whose original field-notes are still preserved in the Maryland archives at Annapolis.

At the end of three years, these Surveyors had accomplished but little more than the adjustment of the southern line of Delaware, half way across the peninsula, the peninsular line North to the intersection of the "tangent point" of the Northern circular confine of Delaware, and the tracing of the "twelve mile circle."

It was from the "tangent point" on this circle, that the meridian was to be continued North to a point, fifteen miles South of Philadelphia, whence should be traced the parallel of latitude westward, that was to divide the provinces, and to the difficulty of tracing this line is attributable the presence of Mason and Dixon in America.

On the 4th of August 1763, Thomas and Richard Penn, and Lord Baltimore, being together in London, agreed with Chas. Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, "two mathematicians or surveyors," "to mark, run out, settle, fix and determine all such parts of the circle, marks, lines and boundaries, as were mentioned in the several articles or commissions, and were not yet completed." Mason and Dixon landed in Philadelphia on the 15th of November following, and began their work at once. They adopted the peninsular lines, and the radius and tangent point of the circle, of their predecessors. They next ascertained the north eastern corner of Maryland, and proceed to run the dividing parallel of latitude. They pursued this parallel, a distance of 230 miles, 18 chains and 21 links, from the place of beginning at the N. E. corner of Maryland, to the bottom of a valley on Dunkard's creek, where an Indian war path crossed their route; and here on the 9th of November 1767,—101 years ago,—their Indian escort told them, it was the will of the Six Nations that the surveys should cease; leaving 36 miles, 6 chains and 59 links, as the exact distance remaining to be run west to the South West angle of Pennsylvania, not far from the Broad Tree Tunnel on the B. & O. Railroad.

By agreement of the parties and the decree of Lord Harkwicke, of the English Court of Chancery, the surveyors, Mason & Dixon, planted at the end of every fifth mile, a stone, graven with the arms of the Penns on one side, and those of the Baltimore family on the other, marking the intermediate miles with smaller stones, having a P on the North side, and an M on the South. This was done as far as Sideling Hill; beyond that, the line is marked by a "vista," cut through the forest, eight yards wide, with piles of stones on the mountain crests, as far as the summit of the Allegany; beyond which the line is marked with posts, with stones and earth heaped around them. Such is the history of Mason's & Dixon's line.

In course of time, the northeast boundary stone of Maryland, was undermined by a brook, and falling down was removed and built into the chimney of a neighboring farm house. When it was missed, a joint commission was authorized by the States of Maryland, Pennsylvania and Delaware, and Lieut. Col. James D. Graham, of the U. S. Topographical Engineers, proceeded to replace it. A "triangular prismatic post of granite," marked with the letters, M, D and P, respectively facing the States to which these letters refer, now marks the beginning of Mason and Dixon's line.

Dixon died at Durham, England, 1777; Mason died in Pennsylvania in 1787.

☞ We guarantee a highly interesting Lecture next Wednesday Evening. 1t

IN COURT.—H. M. NORTH, Esq., of Columbia, counsel for Messrs. Maltby, Northrup, Case, and other bond-holders of the Gettysburg Railroad Company, has commenced proceedings in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania for a fore-closure of the Mortgage and sale of the road. We presume the proceedings will result in a sale of the road, which has been under sequestration for some years. There will be a contest, however, on the decree of distribution, as the status of Messrs. Maltby, Northrup and Case, will probably be contested by other bond-holders—the issue involving the question whether the bonds held by these gentleman, originally hypothecated to Johns Hopkins and others, are held absolute or as collaterals only.—It is a question in which all the bond-holders are deeply interested, and we have been surprised to learn that, with one or two exceptions, counsel have not been employed to look after their interests. Not only are the bond-holders vitally interested in this question of distribution, but also in the sale of the road. The road, with its franchises, ought to bring at least $200,000. Yet, unless some arrangement or combination be effeted to bid, there is danger of it going at a nominal sum, involving a heavy sacrifice to the bona fide bond-holders. Would it not be well for the resident bond-holders to have a meeting for consultation, at least? If all were to unite in the employment of counsel to look after their interests, the cost to each would be comparatively trifling.

☞ The "Model Wife" will certainly interest all young gents in search of such an institution. 1t

VELOCIPEDE SCHOOL.—The famous Velocipede has reached Gettysburg at last. Mr. D. C. DURNBAUGH, of Mechanicsburg, Pa., will open a Velocipede School in Agricultural Hall, on Monday the 19th inst., when all desiring to indulge in this fascinating exercise will have the opportunity to learn and practice the art. 2t

MERCHANT TAILORING.—JOSEPH JACOBS has commenced the Merchant Tailoring business on Chambersburg street, in the room formerly occupied by R. C. COBEAN. Goods of all styles on hand and made to order. Give him a call. 1t

RELIGIOUS STATISTICS.—In a recent number of the Evangelical Review, the editor, Professor STOEVER, of this place, furnishes some interesting statistics in regard to the Lutheran church. The population of the world is estimated at thirteen hundred millions, of which 335,000,000 are nominally Christians. These again are divided into 170,000 Roman Catholics, 80,000,00 Protestants, and 76,000,000 Greek Catholics. Of the 80,0000,000 Protestants more than one-half (47,115,500) are Lutherans, which are apportioned thus in round numbers:

Germany	25,000,000
Prussia	8,000 000
Sweden	3,000,000
Poland and Russia	3,000,000
Austria and Moravia	2,000,000
Norway	1,600,000
United States	1,000,000
Other Countries	3,415,000
	47,115,500

These statistics show that the Lutheran Church in the world is larger than all the other Protestant Churches combined; that even in the United States it is numerically the third denomination, numbering more communicants than any other Protestant Church except the Methodist and Baptist. In 1820, when the General Synod was formed, there were but 103 Lutheran ministers; in 1869, more than 2.000 ministers, 3.500 congregations, and 400,000 communicants.

The Christain World, for April, gives the following summary of the statistics of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 1868, showing the magnitude and growth of that powerful denomination in the United States during the previous year:

THE COST OF ADVERTISING.—The Lancaster Express has the following truthful remarks on the cost of advertising:—The New York Tribune recently received two advertisements from the Post Office Department to be published six weeks, the price to be charged not to exceed $30 and $40 respectively. To these propositions the Tribune thus replies:

"Inasmuch as the publication of the two advertisements in the Tribune would cost, at our lowest rates, $82 50 and $105 respectively, we cannot, of course, insert them for $30 and $40 respectively. The prices named would not cover the cost of the white paper required to print the notices in the Tribune, and we know of no reason why the Government should ask us to do its work for a less price than business men pay. If the law limits the amount that can be paid, we advise Congress to modify the same so as to enable the Departments to insert their advertisements in newspapers where they will be read by those interested. We are always pleased to insert whatever unobjectionable advertisements are offered, but one man's money is as good as another's, and we must charge all alike. No newspaper with any circulation can afford to insert advertisements at the rates named."

This is the plain common-sense view of the matter. It seems difficult for many people to understand that an advertisement in one paper may be worth twice as much as the same notice in another journal of only half the circulation. All journals of established circulation and character, which conduct their business upon correct principles, have a fixed scale of prices, and adhere to it. The very fact that a newspaper is willing to publish an advertisement at half-price, whether for the government or an individual, is prima facie evidence that they have only half-value to give in return for the money received. A little reflection must satisfy any one, that an advertisement in a paper having a circulation of 2,000 copies is worth just twice as much as the same matter in one circulating only 1,000 copies; and yet it is an every day occurrence for advertisers to insist upon having their advertisements inserted at the half-price rates, without regard to the advantages in circulation. There are few transactions in business more unreasonable than this.

GETTYSBURG POST-OFFICE.—On Monday last, the President sent into the Senate the nomination of JACOB KITZMILLER for Postmaster at Gettysburg. Mr. K. is well known, having filled the office of Prothonotary for three years with marked acceptance, acquiring the reputation of a courteous and efficient officer. He lost an arm in the War for the suppression of the Rebellion, is a thorough Republican, and is amply qualified for the position.—We have no doubt he will make an acceptable Postmaster.

DEAD.—The Knoxville (Illinois) Republican, of the 31st ult., contains an obtuary of the death of Mr. LEANDER EIKER, who died from injuries received in the breaking in of the roof of a coal bank on his farm, by which he was buried in the debris for six hours, with scarcely sufficient space to breathe. He was about 30 years of age and a member of Knoxville Lodge No. 86 A. Y. M. Mr. Eiker's parents formerly resided in Adams county.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.—Persons who were elected to the office of Justice of the peace, at the recent Spring elections, will do well to bear in mind that they are required by law to give written notice to the Prothonary, within thirty days, of their acceptance.

NEW FIRM.—Mr. NICHOLAS WEAVER, who has so long and sucessfully carried on the Livery business on Washington street, has taken his son LEVI F. WEAVER into partnership, and the business will hereafter be carried on under the name of N. WEAVER & SON, with increased facilities. This change necessitates the closing up of the old books, and Mr. WEAVER desires all indebted to him to call and settle without delay. The books will be found at the office of the Firm, on Washington street, north of Chambersburg street. 1t

NOW IS THE TIME.—Our neighbor, F. CUNNINGHAM, has received another supply of Ready-made Clothing, bought specially for the Spring trade, and which he has marked down to prices to suit the times. He has everything in the line of Men's and Boy's wear, Coats, Pants, Vests, Socks, Suspenders, &c., with a large assortment of Fancy Goods; and those of our friends wanting anything in this line will do well to examine his stock before buying elsewher, if they want to save money. April 9-2t

☞ O! O! O!—NORRIS will, after the 1st day of January sell all kinds of Winter Clothing at greatly redued prices.—Over Coats as low as $4.00, Cavalry Over Coats at $6.25, Infantry Over Coats $5.25, and all other Winter goods at greatly reduced prices, to make room for Spring goods. tf

GREAT SURPRISE.—We were astonished the other day in passing Arnold's old corner. NORRIS has changed his base to this corner, and is surprising every body that visits him by his large and cheap Stock of Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, &c. &c. Give him a call. tf

FOR SALE—A new first class Fallin and Shifting Top BUGGY. Enquire at Dr. O'NEAL'S office on Baltimore street near High. tf

☞ 25 cents admission to hear the "Model Wife." 1t

LUMBER.—The attention of Carpenters and Builders is invited to the extensive assortment of Lumber of all kinds to be found at the Lumber Yard of Col. C. H. Buehler, on Carlisle street, opposite the Passenger Depot. River and Mountain Pine, Hemlock, Laths, Siding, Joice, Scantling, Shingles, Pickets, Flooring, Posts, &c. &c., furnished in any quantity and at lowest rates. tf

AYER'S
CATHARTIC PILLS,
For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them.—Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug; they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For DYSPEPSIA or INDIGESTION, LISTLESSNESS, LANGUOR and LOSS OF APPETITE, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For LIVER COMPLAINT and its various symptoms, BILIOUS HEADACHE, SICK HEADACHE, JAUNDICE or GREEN SICKNESS, BILIOUS COLIC and BILIOUS FEVERS, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For DYSENTERY or DIARRHŒA, but one mild dose is generally required.

For RHEUMATISM, GOUT, GRAVEL, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, PAIN IN THE SIDE, BACK and LOINS, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system.—With such change those complaints disappear.

For DROPSY and DROPSICAL SWELLINGS they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For SUPPRESSION a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Gettysburg, Friday, April 9, 1869.

Sheep Beneficial to a Farm.—The profits of keeping sheep are not at all to be derived from the wool they produce, or increase in numbers, for their manure is one of the very best fertilizers we have. Although sheep will not thrive if kept too long upon the same field, yet the soil upon which they run will continually increase in productiveness. Every farmer knows that a moderate coating of sheep manure will renovate worn out soil more than a heavy coating of barnyard manure, and more particularly may it be used with profit on wheat land.

Great pains should be taken in season when sheep are yarded to secure their droppings. Straw, forest leaves, etc., are good absorbents, and a fresh coating should be put in the shed at least once a week. Before putting on the fresh bedding, clean from the surface all that can be removed, and put into a pile, thus keeping the shed in a healthier and sweeter condition, besides saving a greater amount of manure.

We have heard men assert that they could make an absolute profit greater from the manure their sheep would furnish, by saving both soil and liquid excrements, than from their fleeces. A farmer in the East says he believes the profits derived from sheep, by way of manure, to be five dollars per head in value to him every winter.

There has never yet been one-half the attention paid to saving this fertilizer among farmers generally, that there should have been, and we hope the discouraged wool growers, who talk about no profits from fleece and increase, will turn their attention to bringing their farms up into a higher state of productiveness, and make ther flocks the means of this wise improvement.

Where sheep are not kept closely yarded, during the winter the flock may be fed upon the poorer spots in the pasture when the weather is fine. A marked difference will be seen in the growth of grass upon these plots the next season.—Ohio Farmer.

Foundering Horses.—A certain cure for founder in a horse is to stand him in water up to his belly. I have known it practiced for fifty years; and swathing the legs in hot water, vinegar and sugar of lead, are all good to some extent; but a founder must be relieved suddenly, or the horse will show stiffness in his actions and have deformed, callous and tender hoofs.

Water applied to the legs I do not consider a positive cure, the disease must be attacked at the root, by bleeding and purging; a few drops of blood taken from below the fetlocks will hasten his recovery. But the most certain cure and quick remedy that I have ever known is in a green gourd.—Take a large green gourd, cut it up, put it into a gallon of water and boil it down to a quart. Strain the liquid and drench—in twenty-four hours the horse will be perfectly himself. The gourd is a powerful diuretic, and will cause the horse to stand the most offensive odor.

In 1822, I traded for two fine young mares in Augusta, Ga. I rode one of them to Kentucky, and my servant the other. Early one morning at the crossing of Clinch river, Tenn., we found one of the mares so badly foundered that she could not be led out of the stable. I procured a green gourd and drenched her as directed above, and directed the servant to remain until she was able to travel, expecting that he would reach home in three or four days after me; the next day after my arrival he he came in, with the mare in as good plight as if nothing had happened.—Cor. Rural World.

Stop the Leak.—Turn that drain—the one that runs out of your barn yard into the gutter by the highway. It dosen't make much difference which way you turn it, so that it discharges its contents on same part of the farm. Such a leak as that is far more expensive than one in your vinegar, cider or syrup barrel. Turn the one from the sink spout. A good spot to lead it to is the location of some grape vine or apple tree. The roots of the former will take up everything that is soluble in it, and will give you clusters of grapes instead, while the leaves will dispose of the most of the volatile and offensive gasses that will rise. We know an old farmer East who said he made his sink spout pay his taxes every year. He had an enormous russet apple tree planted within a few yards of his kitchen. On its roots the dish water flowed as often as the family partook of their meals. We generally forget to feed our trees and vines, and too often loose our expected supply of fruit.—But by an arrangement of this kind we make provisions for a constant supply of nutriment.—Prairie Farmer.

Drill in your Oats.—In moderately rich soil, oats should be planted with a grain drill putting about one bushel, of forty-five pounds, to an acre. Plowing the ground in the fall will enable you to sow oats much earlier than spring plowing, and the earlier oats are sown the better are the chances for a good yield in quantity and quality. If the spring season is very wet, ground that has been plowed in the fall can be sown almost as early as spring plowing begins. Late oats do not have time to mature, and, unless the season is favorable, generally prove a failure. Oats that are drilled in are improved by stirring between the rows, the yield being often increased twenty per cent. First-rate soil is not necessarily needed to raise oats, but the richest soil always pays best. Seventy to one hundred bushels is not an extraordinary yield for the best kind of oats in good soil. If the season be too wet to plow, I prefer putting in oats with a shovel plow on clay soil. On sandy soil it yields best to drill it in with super phosphates.—Farm Journal.

The Canada Thistle.—Mr. David Newport, of Abington, Pa., writes to Hearth and Home: "On a farm which I purchased in Abington, I found two considerable patches of Canada thistle, which I have destroyed in two seasons by the application of a small quantity of coal oil. I found it better to cut each plant close to the ground with a shap hoe or knife, and apply the coal oil immediately to the fresh wound.—A small quantity seems to penetrate the plant, even to its most distant roots. Farmers cannot be too careful to note the first encroachment of this pest, for it is only then that it can be readily destroyed, but it will be found by experiment that the means above indicated, if perseveringly used, will prove thoroughly efficacious.

How to Make a Compost Heap.—A good compost heap may be made by first providing a suitable flooring, upon which muck, dry earth or leaf mould, should be spread to the depth of ten inches or a foot. As the manure is taken from the stable, place it in a layer five or six feet deep.—Then more muck, and after that more manure in alternate layers, until the heap gets too high for convenience in pitching the material upon it. After lying for two or three months, it should be forked over several times. If troughs are laid to conduct the liquids from the stable to the heap, so much the better, and the addition of hen manure, and such similar strong fertilizing matter as may be at hand, will be found very advantageous.

Potatoes.—The North British Agriculturist say: "To improve the size of potatoes, whether planted with small or large, whole, or even cut potatoes, when the plants are only a few inches high, let the shoot be reduced by pulling them up to one or two, or at most three, of the strongest. The tubers will, consequently, be fewer and very much larger, in measure nearly all fit for market and the table." It is easy to try a few rows by way of experiment.

ZINGARI BITTERS.
A SAFE BLOOD PURIFIER,
A SPLENDID TONIC,
A PLEASANT BEVERAGE.
A CERTAIN CURE
AND PREVENTIVE OF DISEASES.
The ZINGARI BITTERS are compounded from a prescription of the celebrated Egyptian physician DR. CHEOPSUS, who, after years of trial and experiment, discovered the Zingarini Herb—the most remarkable vegetable production, the earth, perhaps, has ever yielded—certainly the most effective in the cure of disease. It, in combination with the other valuable properties of which the ZINGARI BITTERS is composed, will cure
Dyspepsia, Fever and Ague, Bilious Fever, Cholic, Colds, Bronchitis, Consumption in its first stage, Flatulency, Nervous Debility, Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Dysentery, Acute and Chronic Diarrhœa, Cholera Morbus, Cholera, Typhoid and Typhus Fever, Yellow Fever, Scrofula, Diseases of the Kidneys, Habitual Costiveness, &c., &c.
In the PREVENTION and CURE of the above diseases, it has never been known to fail, as thousands of our most prominent citizens throughout all parts of the country, will testify. Let the afflicted send for circular containing testimonials and certificates of those who have been cured after their cases have been pronounced hopeless by our best physicians.

AYER'S
CHERRY PECTORAL,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.
Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.
Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.
Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.
Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.
Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.
So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,
For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.
As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.
Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.
For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.
For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.
Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

THE GREAT
Invigorator and Restorer
OF THE
Vitality of the Stomach.
Prepared from Pure Vegetable Materials.
Pure Tonics and the most Pleasant Aromatics.
This invaluable Remedy for Dyspepsia and General Debility of the system is offered to the public, after a fair trial of its merits, with entire confidence that it will command their approval. It has been submitted with the materials which compose it, to practising Physicians—among others to Dr. M. D. G. PFEIFFER, one of our oldest and most eminent Physicians, residing at New Oxford, who, after examination, pronounced it a Remedy which would not fail to show its salutary effects, when properly administered, in cases of Dyspepsia, springing from old age and debilitating effects of serious inward diseases—weakening, and at last destroying the nervous power of the stomach itself—and therefore entitling it to be emphatically called "The Great Invigorator."
Dr. W. J. MCCLURE, another prominent Physician of New Oxford, thus gives his opinion:
NEW OXFORD, Dec. 30, 1868.
Mr. JOHN BUSBEY.
Dear Sir:—At your request I have examined "The Great Invigorator," prepared by you, and the formula from which it is prepared. It is composed of some of the most powerful vegetable tonics and most pleasant aromatics known to our profession, and I have no hesitancy in recommending it in Chronic cases of Dyspepsia, and in all cases of Indigestion resulting from debility of the Stomach. Believing that, if properly used, it will be of incalculable benefit to the suffering of our race, I subscribe myself,
Yours, very respectfully,
W. J. McCLURE, M. D.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR
FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.
The Great Desideratum of the Age.
A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but no harm it. If wanted merely for a
HAIR DRESSING,
nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

A Word to the Wise!
HIGHLY IMPORTANT TO FARMERS!
Renner's Chemical Fertilizer!
THE importance of a quick, active and durable Fertilizer, adapted to the soil of our county, is acknowledged by all Farmers. Having satisfied myself, after long study and careful experiment, that F. C. RENNER'S
Chemical Fertilizer
surpasses all others in adaptedness to all kinds of soil, I have purchased the right for Adams county, and am prepared to fill orders for it promptly and on reasonable terms. It is no humbug, but
HAS BEEN SUCCESSFULLY TRIED
by a number of our Farmers, and is admitted by all who have it to be the best in the market, and the cheapest. I am prepared to furnish this Fertilizer in any quantity, and will deliver it
In any town or village in the County, when ordered in not less quantity than a TON. I manufacture it for sale at $50 per ton without bags, or $55 in bags. This fertilizer is composed of the best fertilizing chemicals that can be had. I use no oil of vitriol; it does not contain any ammonia, therefore I do not use it. Neither do I use lime nor ashes.
THE OBJECT OF THE CHEMICAL FERTILIZER
is to introduce a fertilizer that will last for a series of crops—not only for one. It contains sufficient animal matter to mature the grain and make it ripen early, while the ammonia forces the growth. I expect to manufacture a large supply this winter for the spring crops, and therefore invite farmers and the public generally to give it a trial on all kinds of Grains and Vegetables.
CAUTION.—I hereby give notice that Farm Rights hereafter sold unless signed by me, are infringements on my Right, and will be prosecuted and dealt with according to law, from which there is no appeal.
All orders will be promptly attended to by addressing

FARMERS,
Fruit Growers & Gardners.
Best's "Improved Patent Fruit Tree Invigorator and Vine Insect Destroyer."
THIS is truly one of the greatest discoveries ever made—combining the most useful ingredients ever known for fruit, grain and general vegetation. As a fertilizer, it has no no equal. When applied to the tree it penetrates every pore—destroying every species of insect, and the worm in the heart of the tree or plant—connecting with the mineral substance of the earth, destroys the cause and prevents the creation of any destructive insect. It will prevent Curculio from stinging the plum. It will kill the peach grub. It will loosen the knot and old bark on the vine and tree—slough off the same and re-bark the stock. In a word, it re-invigorates the whole tree and gives it health and strength to withstand the severity of the weather and retain its fruit. It will destroy all insects which infest the pot-flowers, cucumbers, potatoes, tomatoes, plants, &c. and stimulate their growth. It will prevent weevil, mildew, rust or the fly from touching the wheat, and the cut worm from the corn. It is now extensively used in the Western States, and persons who use it would not be without it for one thousand times its value. No man who has a single fruit tree can afford to be without it. Upon application, we will refer to persons who are using it in Berks county, and would not take $1000 for their recipe, we will give residence and address. The undersigned have purchased the sole right to use, sell and apply the Invigorator, within the counties of York, Cumberland, Adams, Franklin, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery, Lehigh and Philadelphia City and county, and are now prepared to sell townships or county rights. Persons who have purchased townships have made as high as $50 to $100 per day selling farm rights at from $5 to $10 per recipe.

The public are notified to purchase no right of J. Ahearn, alias Geo. W. Jackson, of Baltimore, Md. as we will prosecute to the utmost extent, all who buy from him to sell or us. The sole right for the above territory is owned by us. Ahearn never saw Best's Improved Patent, and knows nothing of its ingredients. Our right was obtained from the patentee, Mr. Best—who is now prosecuting Ahearn in the Baltimore Courts for fraud. EVANS & CO.

A SERVANT FOR ALL.
Roth's Improvement for Opening, Closing and Latching Gates,
MAY be attached to any gate and operated from buggy, team or saddle, by one hand, in any desired direction from the gate—opened and closed from one point, at any distance from the gate. This improvement is simple and cheap, yet perfect and strong; will not be disarranged by the sagging of the gate, nor by the frost raising the posts; may be made at a country blacksmith's, and easily attached to a gate. The undersigned, having the Right for Adams county, will sell Township and Farm Rights of this improvement.
Also, ROTH & SHANE'S AMERICAN LEVER GATE—which will be found valuable and convenient to all who have gates to drive through—as they remain by their team, open, close and latch a gate, without the necessity of getting in the wet or mud.
